Portfolio structure

1) The annualized total return is the average return earned by an investment each year over a given time period. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investment performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Due to the delayed release of inflation data, relevant benchmarks will lag by one month.
Data source: © Morningstar Inc. All rights reserved.

2) Total Expense Ratio (TER), expressed as a percentage of the Fund, relates to expenses incurred in the administration of the Fund. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. Transaction Costs (TC), expressed as a percentage of the Fund, relate to the costs incurred in buying and selling the underlying assets of the Fund. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impact fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charges expressed as a percentage of the Fund, relates to all investment costs of the Fund. Both the TER and TC of the Fund are calculated on an annualised basis, beginning 01/07/2014 and ending 30/06/2017

Investment manager commentary

Taquanta Asset Management

The rebound in global growth seems to have remained on course for this year, with the IMF keeping its forecast at 3.5%. Uncertainty remains however, around when economic policy reforms in the US will be implemented, with increased pressure to move forward on proposed tax reform to drive growth. The US CPI slowed to 1.6% year-on-year in June, from 1.9% in May, this is below the Federal Reserve's 2% target. Elsewhere in major economies, Japanese growth is projected to be 1.3% this year. Japan will have to focus on implementing policies to counter the effects of an ageing population and a shrinking workforce to ensure they maintain momentum in growth and productivity. Growth forecasts for the Eurozone have been revised upwards, following better than expected growth reported in the first quarter of 2017.

The IMF projects growth in emerging markets to increase to 4.6% in 2017 (4.3% 2016). In stark contrast to these growth rates, the Reserve Bank has revised South Africa's growth forecast downwards to 0.5% for 2017, (1% previously projected). A challenging political climate and weak consumer and business confidence continue to hamper growth in South Africa. When looking at South Africa's key industries namely mining and manufacturing, mining contributed 21% towards South African output in the 1980s, this number has declined to 8% in 2016 according to Statistics SA.

The mining profit margin ratio has also tightened significantly, from 30 cents for every rand of turnover to nine cents in the first quarter of 2017. The knock-on effects of tightening profit margins, means it is tougher for businesses to expand and grow, invest or make new hires. Statistics SA reported that the profit margin in the formal business sector has seen a downward trajectory from 11 cents for every R1 of turnover in 2007, to five cents for every R1 in 2017.

June saw annual percentage change in PPI contract from 4.8% in May to 4% year-on-year in June. Private sector credit extension grew 6.2% year-on-year in June (May 6.7%), which fell short of the market consensus of 6.5%.

The Reserve Bank announced a largely unexpected 25 basis points cut in the repo rate during the July MPC meeting. The Reserve Bank cited reasons such as the improved inflation outlook, with CPI reported to be 5.1% in June (down from 5.4% in May), and the deteriorating growth outlook, for the surprise cut. They noted however that they would not hesitate to reverse the decision should the inflation outlook deteriorate.

There has been a compression in bank spreads post the rate cut, with a similar trend possible for high quality corporates if underpinned by strong demand and weak supply, especially if banks have high demand for high quality liquid assets. Our base case view is for interest rates to remain flat, with the possibility of another rate cut for 2017, should growth and inflation remain weak. The fund is well positioned to take advantage of the current economic climate and uncertainties ahead.

The Nedgroup Investments Money Market Fund continues to be exposed largely to banks ((91.06% in July 2017) while 8.94% of the fund is in government, parastatal, conduit and corporate debt. The fund continues to comfortably outperform its benchmark, delivering a gross return of 0.68% in July 2017.
